FINALE FOR DRESS UP WEEK IS SET

FASHION SHOW TO BE HELD TUESDAY; JUDGES SELECTED

Out-of-Town People to Select the Winners in Appearance Week

SEVERAL BANDS FURNISH MUSIC

Block of Second Avenue to Be Roped Off for the Occasion

The grand finale of the Twin Cities' "Pride in Appearance" week comes Tuesday night. That section of Second avenue, between Johnston and Grant streets will be the place of the big show.

This thoroughfare will be roped off early in the evening, following permission promised by city authorities, so as to give the decorators for the gala occasion full time to do their work properly.

Those expecting to drive their cars along this section of Second avenue Tuesday evening had better start early, or be prepared to detour for a block.

Workmen now are putting the finishing touches on the completed "white way" that is to make the limited show area as bright as the noon day.

The stands for the judges who are to pass upon appearance of the dressed-up couples or individuals who are to enter for the money prizes to be given, will be handsomely decorated and lighted with unusual brilliance, it is said.

There are to be two judges stands. The contestants for recognition in the "dress parade" are expected to march between the two stands of the judges, and in turn the judges, five in number, are to say who shall receive the first prize of $25 for the best appearing woman, and who shall receive the first prize of $25 for the man making the best appearance.

The same judges also will name the winners for second and third prizes. In all $100 will be given away Tuesday night, to those who take the first six places in the "dress parade."

Lest the people "all dressed up" should have "no place to go" Mr. Bullington, the Grant Street photographer, proposes to entertain them at his studio some time Tuesday evening, when he will make pictures of the prize winners, and give them to the "originals" free of charge.

Judges Named
The judges named are Mayor Charles Sarver, of Athens, Allie Blair of Hartselle, Mrs. Fred Swift of Hartselle, a representative of Johnson, Calhoun and Mahoney, and B. Loveman of Birmingham.

At 8:00 o'clock p. m. the Miller Brothers band and the Albany-Decatur concert band will start on their tour going to Bank street and returning to Second avenue in time for the first of all the free attractions of the evening as given by Miller Brothers. A bank concert will follow the show by Miller Brothers and then will come the important decisions as to who will win in the final pride in appearance week.

Miller Brothers have promised to stage some free acts after the decision of the judges.

Sharpley Residence Damaged by Fire

The roof and upper story of a residence on Fourth avenue South Albany, the property of Avery Sharpley, were almost destroyed by fire Sunday, and but for the activities of both the Albany and the Decatur fire departments other residences would have been burned, it is said. The two fire departments worked four hours in putting out the flames in the Sharpley house. Mr. Sharpley and family lived in the upper story, while Frank Utter and family occupied the ground floor.

BOBBED HAIR BANDIT BELIEVED CAPTURED

SECRETARY WILBUR'S NIECE HONORED.

MISS SUSAN SHEDD

Miss Susan Shedd, niece of the newly-appointed Secretary of the Navy, Curtis D. Wilbur, has been appointed Director General of Near East Relief Orphanages for the Persian Area, centering in Tabriz. Miss Shedd, a graduate of Vassar, was so honored by the Administrative Committee of the relief organization in Persia in recognition of her achievement in moving 400 children from Hamadan, 400 miles overland to Tabriz.

LARGE AUDIENCE ENJOYS CANTATA

The auditorium of the Decatur Baptist church presented a most pleasing appearance Sunday afternoon to the large audience who gathered from the Twin-Cities to hear the Easter Cantata "The King Triumphant." The decorations were of white and green, ferns, Easter lilies, white roses and vines.

This beautiful cantata by Ashford is composed of eleven parts. "Thou Art My God" was rendered by a mixed quartette, Mrs. Vera Austelle, Miss Elizabeth Wallace, Messrs. Paul Dix and J. D. Garren; "The Entry into Jerusalem" by Mr. Crane, baritone, and Miss Wallace, soprano, and the choir; "Ride on in Majesty" by the choir; "Jerusalem" by Mrs. A. T. Hanson; "Gethsemane" by P. F. Dix and the choir; "Hail King of the Jews" by Prof. J. D. Garren and the choir; "And There was Darkness" by male quartette, Messrs. Dix, Davis, Crane and Garren; "Christ is Risen" by Miss Elizabeth Wallace and the choir; "An Easter Prayer" by Mrs. A. R. Kabrich contralto solo; "The Ascension" by woman's quartette, Messdames Hanson Austelle, Kabrich and Miss Wallace; "The King Triumphant" by the choir closed the excellent program.

At the close Pastor Davidson expressed his appreciation of the large audience which taxed the capacity of the building and invited them to future appearances of the choir. He also thanked members of other choirs for their assistance and thanked the singers in behalf of the congregation for the splendid service they are rendering the community. The benediction was offered by Rev. E. K. Roy.

Fails to Move for Fire Truck; Fined

As an aftermath of the rush of fire departments of the Twin Cities to South Albany Sunday for the purpose of extinguishing a residence fire, Mayor Britain fined one person $21.60 Monday morning for failure to turn out of the road, when the horn of the fire engines sounded.

A number were at the city hall to hear the trial, as general interest had been aroused in its outcome of the unusual case.

PAIR OF SUSPECTS ARE UNDER ARREST IN FLORIDA RESORT

Edward Cooney to Take All Blame and Save His Wife, He Says

TIP FOLLOWED TO BOARDING HOUSE

Career of Gun Girl Has Kept Police Busy for Several Months

(Associated Press)

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., April 21—Preparing to return to New York this afternoon in custody with two New York detectives, Edward Cooney and his wife believed to be the bobbed hair hold up woman, who has terrified New York, today confessed to the whole affair, according to Detective Gray, of New York.

The man is said to have confessed to the majority of the charges filed against the pair and his wife freely talked of the most recent affair the robbery of the National Biscuit company's plant in Brooklyn, in which one man was seriously injured. The couple waived all extradition papers and told detectives they would be glad to return to New York.

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., April 21—"I have nothing to say at present but when the time comes I am going to confess everything, take all the blame and do all in my power to exonerate my wife from all blame. She has had enough trouble already."

That was the statement of Edward Cooney, 25, of New York, when asked if he would tell any part he may have had in many New York hold-ups which he and his wife, Elia Cooney, 20, alleged bobbed hair bandit, are charged.

The couple were arrested about one o'clock this morning by Jacksonville police, city detectives and two New York officers in their boarding house at 915 East Monroe street, according to police, the couple have been in Jacksonville about three weeks.

Working on a tip, said to have been gained through either a telegraph office or the mails, when Cooney is said to have communicated with his mother in New York, asking for funds with which to pay hospital bills in this city, the police and detectives entered the boarding house this morning and Lieutenant E. C. Brown knocked on the door leading to the rooms in which the two were staying. The arrest followed.

County Tax Books Being Reviewed

The Morgan County board of revenue has completed its regular routine work for this month and has adjourned; but its members are now sitting as a board of review over the tax books and tax assessments as turned in by the tax officials of the county. It was stated by members of the board late Saturday, that it will take well into this week for the board to complete its work on the books.

The board will soon ask for bids amounting to near $75,000 for the completion of its present maintenance program for the pike roads of the county. It was stated by A. M. Dunnaway, secretary of the board, that it was planned that $25,000 be spent annually in maintaining the pike roads. Mr. Dunnaway stated it was the present intention of the board to finish all the pikes with a coat of asphalt.

SPENCER IS HOST

H. L. Spencer was host for the party at Swan Lake Saturday as made up of many Twin City young people and directed by R. D. Edwards, Boy's Work Secretary of the Y. M. C. A.

EASTER PROGRAMS IN LOCAL CHURCHES LARGELY ATTENDED

Hundreds Are Present at Special Services During Sunday

SUNRISE PRAYERS BEGIN THE DAY

Several Revivals Begun or Ended by the Local Churches

The part the local churches have in the life of the Twin Cities was emphasized Sunday when many special Easter services were held, attended by unusually large crowds. Easter has always been largely observed here, but perhaps never on such a large scale as on yesterday. Never before have the churches given such large publicity to their Easter services and never before have they made such a determined effort to get the attention of the entire community drawn to the importance of public worship and to the claims the churches have upon all citizens whether they are in the church or without its pales. The beautiful weather of Sunday contributed very largely to the great turnout at the churches. Also, the fact that for weeks many of the churches have planned to either begin or terminate special meetings at Easter had a large influence on the increased interest and attendance at the churches Sunday.

Sunrise Meetings.
The day was begun with many sunrise prayer meetings, some of the churches had made special announcement of the sunrise meetings, while others held such services without making public announcement, except to their own congregation.

Very few of the church people, who are active in the work of their churches, failed to attend one of the sunrise prayer meetings. The Sunday schools were largely attended as the records from the books of their secretaries show. The first of the Sunday schools of the community was at the Railroad Y. M. C. A. when a goodly number of men, many more than usual, gathered at the Association at 8:15 o'clock. Most of the members of this school went to their respective church Sunday schools at 9:30 o'clock Sunday morning.

Three of the outstanding 11 o'clock services Sunday morning, made so by being either the beginning or the closing services of revivals, were at the Central Methodist church, at the Southside Baptist church and at the First Christian church. Sunday afternoon and Sunday evening numbers of the churches had special musical programs. Among the churches having special Easter services Sunday night were the South Albany Presbyterian church, where Sunday night a pageant, entitled "A Modern Christian Quest," was given to an appreciative gathering; the Westminster Presbyterian church where a sacred concert, that ranked high with the many other fine musicals of that church, was given before a large crowd beginning at 7:30 o'clock.

Afternoon and Night Meetings

Two notable Sunday afternoon services were those at the Decatur Baptist church and at St. John's Episcopal church. At the last named church, its rector, Rev. T. G. Mundy, at 4 o'clock preached to the Knights Templar of the Twin Cities, the occasion being their annual Easter service. Rev. Mundy took as his text: "He is risen" and explained to the Sir Knights and others in the congregation, that all the Christian faith stood or fell, according as to whether or not Christ's resurrection was an historical fact or not. The Sir Knights were reminded that Christ's cross was the emblem of their order, and that just as each one had a cross upon his uniform, each one must carry whatever cross God may place upon them. MALONE RE-ELECTED TO SCHOOL BOARD

At a regular meeting of the Albany city council held at the city hall Friday night, B. L. Malone, for many years a member of the Albany board of education, was re-elected by unanimous vote of the council. The other members of the board now serving have sometime yet to serve. The term of Mr. Malone expired last week.

The council in two weeks time, will advertise for bids for the construction of a number of new concrete side walks in the eastern part of the city. Request was made by the water company that it not be compelled to complete a water main in Oklahoma neighborhood, south of the Louisville and Nashville shops, which would cost it completed it was claimed, about $7,500.

New electric lights are to be placed in South Albany and near Prospect Drive. The placing of some new sanitary sewers was ordered.

Local Athletes Now Being Sought

Local athletes, who possess the urge to try their knowledge of toe holds and headlocks or who want to trade punches with a professional battler, were requested today to get in touch with James Kid Murphy, of the management of the athletic show at the Malone park. Wild Cat Turner, 188 pound wrestler and Bull Dog Martin, heavyweight wrestler, issue open challenges, which amateurs or professionals here may take advantage of, while Red Ryan, Alabama pugilist and Young Joe Turner, lightweight wrestler and boxer, are not adverse to giving try-outs to ambitious local fighters.

2 Instruments Are Wanted by the S. A. for Young Players

Two instruments, a banjo or a guitar particularly, are now sought by the Salvation Army for the use of two young girls who are with the Army here. Captain Kearns of the Salvation Army, stated today that prospects are good for the organization of a string band among the Army workers and asks that the people of the Twin Cities provide the girls with the musical instruments, which they cannot afford to purchase.

SECRETARY WRITES DETROITER UNABLE TO ATTEND HEARING

Liebold Informs Group of Senators Mayo Will Explain Bid

HOOKE PLAN IS STILL UP TODAY

Mellon Continues His Testimony Before Committee

(Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, April 21—Henry Ford informed the senate agriculture committee today that it would be impossible for him to appear in person before the committee to explain his bid. The committee received a letter today from E. C. Liebold, Ford's general secretary, saying that W. B. Mayo, Ford's chief engineer, would appear instead.

Experimentation in the production of a chemical to destroy the black wheat rust insect would be made at the Muscle Shoals plant if the Hooker bid is accepted. A. H. Hooker, chemist associated with the bidders, told the senate agriculture committee today.

The bidders also plan to produce on a large scale at Muscle Shoals "paradiol of benjol," an insecticide now used to kill the peach borer, and calcium arsenate, used against the cotton boll weevil, Hooker said.

While experimenting for a remedy against black rust, the Hooker chemist also will attempt to discover an insecticide to prevent black spots in tobacco crops, the witness said.

The black rust experiments are now being made at the request of a large milling company, he said.

Weller Explains.
Francis R. Weller, consulting engineer, interested in the Hooker-White Atterbury proposal for the operation of Muscle Shoals, reiterated today that under his proposal the government would receive a total net income of $305,163,700.

If the government income from the sale of fertilizer is omitted, Weller said, $85,526,000 should be deducted. In addition, he said, the total amount paid the government for research during the lease period would be $10,300,000.

On the same basis of estimates, Weller said, the Ford proposal would yield the government only $90,998,300 and the bid of the associated power companies $136,400,000.

Chairman Norris had written Mr. Ford that the committee desired particularly to discuss with him various proposed modifications of his bid. The letter called Mr. Ford's attention to the fact that Mr. Ford had not appeared in person before any committee in congress although the bid had been pending a long time.

"It is the intention of the committee," Chairman Norris wrote, "to close the hearings on April 29 and inasmuch as that day had been fixed for hearing Governor Pinchot, it is desirable to have your representative appear sometime during the week before the 29th."

Criticizes Ford Offer.

Weller said one objection to the Ford bid would be the drawing of labor from Southern farms to Muscle Shoals, where Ford said he planned to build up a great industrial center. He said he did not believe farmers in the territory would get cheap power under the Ford bid, because Ford would use most of the power in his plant.

Senator Harrison, democrat of Mississippi, asked if the Hooker bidders would guarantee to the government $90,000,000, as Ford did.

Weller said he did not think anybody could make such a guarantee and did not interpret the Ford bid as

WITH SUCCESS OF MISS POINTER

Her hundreds of Twin City friends are delighted because of the success Miss Marjorie Pointer met in the oratorical contest in Sheffield, when she won the right to represent the Eighth Congressional district in the state contest which will produce a winner to participate in the national event.

Recognizing the unusual talent which has carried her so far in the elimination series, the Twin Cities are very hopeful that she will be equally as successful in the remaining contests. As she prepares for the future events, she may be assured of the sympathetic interest of her deservedly large circle of friends here.

EASTER PROGRAMS IN LOCAL CHURCHES SPLENDIDLY RENDERED

Large crowds heard the special Easter musical programs given in the several local churches and widespread was the praise for those responsible for providing the Twin Cities with the beautiful programs. Those who arranged the programs, those who directed and those who participated in them have much cause to be proud of the achievements.

GERMANY ACCEPTS DAWES PLAN
BUT QUESTION MARK REMAINS

If history did not show that the Germans accepted the Versailles treaty and then sought to repudiate that agreement, the recent statement that Germany has agreed to the Dawes reparations plan would be accepted more readily.

Since things get worse, not better, in Europe, and since the world generally is being drawn down as Europe descends, it is the earnest wish of all, unless there be those still who wish Germany to rule or ruin, to see some definite effort to settle the World war debts and get at something more constructive.

It is said the socialists, the democrats and the larger part of the industrialist party readily favored the Dawes plan, and that only the so-called nationalist party was inclined to oppose the plan.

The acceptance is accompanied by certain reservations, but just what they are is not clear, except that it is expected the Germans will demand that the Rhur valley will be cleared of French troops.

It makes no difference what may be agreed upon on paper as between the Allies and Germany and France, unless the last named nations will learn to quit hating and get to work. If hate is to rule between the Germans and the French, the Dawes commission's work was all in vain, and the assembly of the commissioners was vain.

Further negotiations, further talk between the two nations will be useless also, if the spirit of bad will is to rule between France and Germany.

If it is true that France sent soldiers into the Rhur, only because the Germans defaulted in payments due, then if the Germans make it plain to the world they aim to pay their debts, France will withdraw voluntarily or else be forced to do so.

COOLIDGE ON STATE'S RIGHTS

It is somewhat unusual for a republican president to emphasize the virtue of the doctrine of state's rights. Yet in a short address Tuesday Mr. Coolidge espoused "the principle of local self-government in harmony with the needs of each state. This means that in general the states should not surrender but retain their own sovereignty and keep control of their own government." It is very probable that the President's experience as governor of Massachusetts may have driven home to him the truth of this dictum. The rights of the states are being gradually absorbed by the increasing tendency of Congress to enact measures, especially those of a paternalistic nature, that are not particularly demanded by the national welfare, and which each state is capable of handling for itself. Although there may be a theoretical efficiency of government through uniform laws, yet uniformity is not the summum bonum of either government or mankind. The federal government is justified in enacting laws of this nature only when the states have persistently refused to do so, to the extent of injuring the general welfare. That very seldom, if ever, has happened.

Yet acceptance of the privilege of state's rights carries with it a responsibility on the part of the states. This the President outlines as follows: "Throughout our whole nation there is an irresistible urge for the maintenance of the highest possible standards of government and society. Unless this sentiment is heeded and observed by appropriate state action, there is always grave danger of encroachment upon the states by the national government. But it must always be realized that such encroachment is a hazardous undertaking and should be adopted only as a last resort. The true course to be followed is the maintenance of the integrity of each state by local laws and social customs which will place it in comparative harmony with all the others."

There may be cases, moreover, in which a state finds itself untouched by federal law, as in Alabama in respect to the eighteenth amendment. Practically all other states find their sovereignty invaded to some extent by this law; but Alabama, having anticipated the national government in establishing prohibition, and having enacted prohibition statutes more drastic in every respect than the Volstead act, can logically feel no federal constraint in this regard. This unique status of Alabama with relation to federal prohibition indicates that the question, after all, is a comparative one. If a state is sufficiently abreast of the times and the advance of civilization, it need have little fear of its rights being invaded by the leisurely development of federal legislation. Pressure for the enactment of federal laws usually follows failure to get legislatures to act. —Age-Herald.

Easter Programs
in Local Churches
Largely Attended

St. John's was strengthened yesterday by Mrs. William McNeil, Miss Ruth Banks, and Miss Mary Mason and Mrs. Johnston, the last named being members of the Episcopal congregation at Athens.

The musical program rendered at the Decatur Baptist church was an elaborate one, and it was greatly enjoyed. This musical was given at 4 o'clock Sunday. There were eleven numbers on the program, every one of which was felt to be inspiring and snubbing by the large and enthusiastic company present.

At the Central Baptist church nine were baptized and two others received into the church Easter morning. Both the church auditorium and the Sunday school room of this church was filled with worshippers at the morning and evening service.

Rev. Noble R. Edwards and Rev. E. Floyd Olive reported that the revivals begun at their churches Sunday were well attended and deep concern manifested. Rev. Olive stated that on Tuesday, Rev. W. R. Beckett, of Amory, Miss., would arrive to assist in the Southside revival.

At the Central Methodist church, where a two weeks revival, attended by notable spiritual results, closed Sunday.

Eighty two were received into the church.

CONFINED TO BED

Birmingham Lady Took Cardui for Relief of Change of Life Troubles and Says It Helped Her "So Much."

Birmingham, Ala.—"I first took Cardui for that tired, worn-out feeling that comes from being dreadfully run-down," says Mrs. Catherine E. Smith, of 2106 Stout Street. "Twenty-five years ago, I was suffering from womanly weakness."

I read of Cardui in an almanac, and thought I would try it. I got a bottle and it helped me from the first. After that, during the whole of my married life, I took Cardui when I needed it. "About four years ago, change of life came on me. I grew weaker and weaker, and was confined to my bed, where I lay on my back for days. I was told that only a severe operation could do me any good, and this depressed me very much; for I dreaded such an ordeal."

"I remembered how Cardui had helped me for female trouble in the past and I had read of how it had helped other women during change of life, so one night I told my husband to go to the drug store and get me a bottle. I began taking it at once. From the first dose I could feel myself getting stronger. I continued to take Cardui until I was entirely through this very trying period of woman's life."

Why Midge Told Lillian About Her Tiff With Dicky.

THE voices of Lillian and Mrs. Marks died away down the hall then sounded again close to my ears, and I realized that they had come into the bedroom of the Marks apartment separated from my kitchen only by the thinnest of walls. The door was ajar and I saw Lillian standing there, her hand on the door handle, looking back over her shoulder at me. "Just dump them on the floor," my neighbor said, "and thank you dearie for helpin' me down with 'em. And I'll remember everythin' you said. But I'm scared."

"I'll see you again soon," Lillian assured her, and in a few moments I heard the Marks' door close upon another excited conversation that Lillian was "as square and fine as Mrs. Graham and that's sayin' somethin'."

I opened the kitchen door cautiously as Lillian came past it, and noiselessly followed her to the living room.

"I am simply bursting with curiosity," I whispered when I had closed the door. "Of course I know you helped her carry the fur coats and from her words and inflections I can see you were talking out of your hand, but what did you find out? Or don't you want to tell me?"

Lillian Is Reassuring.

I added the query because I had caught a furtive expression in Lillian's eyes, one which meant that she wished to work out a problem on her own. I had not realized that Mrs. Marks and her peculiar surroundings presented anything more to Lillian than a chance to aid me in dealing with Dicky's problem. But in Lillian's suddenly lined forehead I saw that something beyond my personal problem was interesting her, and I regretted my quizzing.

"Frankly, I don't know," Lillian replied slowly. "I've stumbled upon something—surprised me."

THE HOME KITCHEN

Greens That Tempt the Fickle Appetite These Spring Days

By JEANNETTE YOUNG NORTON

The Authority on Home Cooking

MOTHER Nature, prodigal in all her offerings, provides many Spring greens by way of tonics for that "tired feeling." These delicious greens may be found by those who search and may be had for the gathering or digging. Unfortunately, we cannot all dig. Many of us have to accept our greens through the medium of shops and other avenues. But for those interested, a harvest in nearly any locality may be the digger's.

A bit of wild onion or garlic chopped in the salad will revive the faded Spring appetite. Dandelion is perhaps the most generally liked green and is at its prime as soon as the young leaves are well above the ground. The lettuce is capable of so many uses that it is not surprising to find it eagerly they are sought. Washed and cut in with the salad, steamed and creamed, cooked and pan-fried, or do spinach, or chopped and added to an omelette are a few of the ways it is delicious.

Watercress grows on the crest of numberless brooks and streams, even in the overflow from springs, and is a delightful Spring salad material. If unavailable in some sections, watercress, which is a land cross with nasturtium and radish, may take its place. Celandine leaves are a cousin of the others that resemble chives, which may be cultivated in the garden later in the season with the other salad greens.

Horseshoe offers a wonderful treat if while fresh and tender, it is stewed and creamed or grated and added to early beets, boiled and creamed, and well seasoned. Beet greens and wee beets are excellent for garden greens, but they come after the Summer garden is planted and are its first fruits.

Marsh-marigold or cowslip, narrow-leaved dock, nasturtium and young nettles were delicacies prized by Indian squaws, who depended on wild greens to vary the meals of their chiefs. The tender sprouts of watercress, very much resembling the early stalks of asparagus and may be cooked and served in the same way. Purslane belongs to the portulaca family. As Summer approaches, it gets to be a garden pest, but in its first leafing it makes an excellent green.

Sheep sorrel, lamb's quarters or field lettuce as it is known in the market, is a very valuable green. It may be eaten as a salad or cooked, and the roughish surface of the leaves being considered a great advantage by health dietists, who claim that it is a real "broom" for the stomach. Sarracenia, or glasswort, is sought by those who know of it and live near the salt marshes of the Atlantic, and the sea product is most frequently pickled. It resembles small, oblong green beads on a wiry stalk, and when picked, the leaves may be eaten from the stem one at a time—a fascinating occupation, for they have a very delicious taste.

Garden greens are quite different from wild greens. They include beet and turnip greens, Swiss chard, New Zealand spinach and several so-called "pot herbs." Chard and spinach have one advantage in the fact that their tender shoots may be pulled and cut without pulling up the plants. This makes the plants practically perpetual producers. To have plenty of lettuce for salads during the Summer, select varieties in rotation. This method insures a young, tender, almost continuous crop, which will last through the Summer and Fall seasons.

THE VISITOR

By Juanita Hamel

WHO does not weary of the city's prison walls and ache, at times, to run far away—out where the grass is green, the trees can grow and touch the clouds and the sky is an endless blue—out where brooks run merrily, the birds carol joyously and butterflies flit hither and yon? What more fitting setting could there be for one whose heart is young and free and whose face is as fair as the flowers of the field?—A joyous welcome awaits her.

WINIFRED BLACK WRITES ABOUT Thought-Reading Dangers

DOCTOR GARDNER MURPHY of Columbia University is making experiments to see whether radio waves can transmit thought.

Please, please, Doctor Murphy, be careful! Oh, do be very careful, indeed!

Don't you remember the story of Pandora and how she opened the box and let all the little Troubles that had been shut up there so long out and how cross everybody was every time they looked at her and thought what she had done?

Do you want your name to be Pandora forever and forever, Dr. Murphy?

What have you got against the human race that you want to send thought waves radio?

Dear me, if you can do that you'll find a way of reading thoughts and then we'll all learn how to do it, and what a terrible world it is.

Talk about glass houses—why we'll all have to stop thinking for good and all.

Oh, no, there's nothing so very secret in our thoughts. It isn't that, but how long do you think you'd live with your dear good hand, my dear, good madam, if you know just exactly what he thought every minute of the day?

Just Suppose—

"Mary certainly begins to look old. See all the fine little wrinkles around her eyes, and whatever is the matter with her chin, it didn't used to look like that?" Well, I suppose I'm not as young as I was myself, either, when it comes to that.

But before he got to himself in his thought, what would you be saying, pray tell?

"Why, the idea! Of course I'm not as young as I used to be, nobody is. And if I hadn't been living with you so long I might feel a good deal younger than I do. I could just feel the wrinkles coming that time you worried me so when you neglected your business for golf and everybody was talking about you."

"Golf, well if that's the worst you can say—"

They're off, and who knows where the quail will end?

And what if John could read your mind when he's telling his favorite story at the dinner party?

"Oh, dear, there he is, starting that old tale again. I do wish he'd forget it, everybody's heard it. See how bored they look. And where on earth did John ever get the idea that he can tell a

Advice to Girls

By Annie Laurie

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE: I am a married woman in my twenties. I have been married seven years. My husband is several years older than I and of course has different ideas about things. He is good to me in a way and in another he isn't. He provides well for me, I have plenty of money to spend and dress about as nicely as I care to, but this is where I feel that he is unjust to me. He never wants me to go out anywhere and if I go he gets angry with me and will not talk to me for several days at a time. Now perhaps you think I am a regular run-around, but I am not. I have three babies and I devote all my time to them, and my house, but there are times when I would like to visit a friend or go to a movie and spend a little time away from home. Sometimes I just go anywhere, but my trip isn't any pleasure as I am wondering all the time what he is going to say about it. He seems to be jealous of all my friends and I can't invite them to my home because he treats them so coldly.

He tells me he doesn't doubt me and that he loves me better than any one in the world. Now do you think he could be so unfair to me if he really did love me? Now if I ask him to visit a friend with me he always has some excuse. I would surely appreciate any advice you will give me.

DISCOURAGED.

DISCOURAGED: Surely your husband cannot be so selfish as to want to deprive you of all pleasure. Perhaps it is because you do not include him when you want to go out. Why not have a nice comfy talk with him and explain that after you have been busy in the house and taking care of the children all day you would like to go to the movies or to call on some friends—and ask him to take you. He cannot refuse you, I am sure. If you show him that it would not be a pleasure unless he accompanies you—just talk it all over with him and if you do it in a nice way without losing your temper, I am sure he can be made to see it from your standpoint and will be only too glad to take you occasionally. Good luck to you.

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE: I am a girl twenty-one years of age. I have been keeping company with a man for over a year and a half. As he lives in another city, he cannot come to see me very often.

Once while calling on me, he danced with my sister and kissed her, unaware that I was in an adjoining room. Now this hurt very much for it was the first time he ever kissed her. This night he asked me to marry him. What shall I do when he calls again? Shall I explain to him or keep silent?

MISS ENGAGED.

MISS ENGAGED: Better ignore the incident. Probably the young man was prompted by brotherly affection for your sister and the act was motivated by his happiness at the thought of your becoming his wife. Certainly he loves you or he would not have asked you to marry him.

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE: I am in love with a certain young man, about five years my senior. He has proven his love by asking me to marry him. We are engaged but still he goes with other girls. What should I do? Should I still trust him?

STRAIGHT LOCKS.

STRAIGHT LOCKS: He certainly should not call on other young ladies when he is engaged to you. Tell him in a very nice way of it. I am sure he will not wish to go with them when he realizes that his doing so makes you unhappy.

YOUR HEALTH

Be Sure You're "Fit" to Do the Work You Like

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D., United States Senator from New York, Former Commissioner of Health, New York City.

UNFORTUNATELY there are many occupations that have had effects on the health of workers. This group of diseases we call "occupational diseases."

Occupational diseases may be classified. Some are due to the environment of the worker. Others are due to the materials used in preparation of certain articles.

Men who work in tunnels or other underground structures or in digging deep excavations are affected by the atmosphere they breathe while at work. The compressed-air pumps, the nitrous oxide gas, the sudden changes in temperature, all have their ill effects.

The symptoms the affected worker usually complains of are pains in the back and legs, dizziness, loss of consciousness and a constant choking feeling. In most cases these symptoms pass off after a few hours in normal surroundings.

It has been wisely stated that only those who are fit and who do not use alcoholic stimulants should work in underground places. Fat people are not able to expel the nitrogen from their lungs as readily as thin ones.

Divers can work but a short time at a great depth. They suffer from lack of pure air. The garments they wear are kept in place by means of tight bands. These affect the circulation, with resulting pains in the limbs.

In recent years it has been found that people making balloon and airplane ascensions are affected by the intensity of the rarefied air through which they pass. This affects the pulse and respiration and often is accompanied by nosebleed, nausea and chills. It is indeed wonderful the advance science has made and the few ill effects resulting from aviation.

Glassblowers, furnace stokers, bakers and cannery men are often affected by the intense heat in which they work.

Extreme cold to which storage packers are subjected has its bad effects also.

Brass workers, especially those who do the grinding and polishing, complain of tiredness, headache, vomiting and pains in the extremities. These symptoms usually disappear after a few hours' rest and a hot drink.

Every worker in any hazardous occupation should take careful inventory of his general health. He should make sure that there is no organic defect, and correct any simple ailment the doctor may find.

When you leave your work change to fresh clothes, take a short, brisk walk for a few minutes. Do not eat if you are upset or do not feel well. Half an hour's rest, a cup of soup and thorough washing of the hands and face will refresh you and drive away the average result of the day's work.

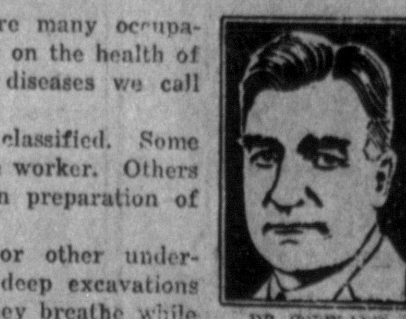

Do not continue any kind of work that seems to affect your health. Many a man has shortened the span of life because he persisted in doing work he was physically unfit to do.

Answers to Health Questions

C. D. M. Q.—I have many small bumps on my face. They are not blackheads, but come and go so that my face is never entirely free of them. What causes this condition and how can I cure it?

A.—I would advise you to consult a skin specialist since your symptoms are a little too vague for a diagnosis without an examination.

J. J. H. D. Q.—What would you

advise me to apply to my hair to make it stay in place—is or vaseline injurious to the hair?

A.—I would advise using vaseline to keep the hair flat and in place.

A SUBSCRIBER. Q.—Would you advise me whether a truss will cure a recent slight rupture?

A.—A truss will afford temporary relief only. Ordinarily the condition must be operated upon to effect a cure.

A CONSTANT READER. Q.—Which is the best cereal to eat for breakfast, or —?

A.—What is the cause of head-ache?

A.—Both of these breakfast foods are good.

Headaches come from many different causes. Constipation, auto-intoxication, high blood-pressure, eyestrain and sometimes a catarrhal condition will cause this trouble. Find the cause and the proper treatment will suggest itself.

ANXIOUS. Q.—Please tell me whether a dislocated knee joint ever becomes normal.

A.—If properly treated I see no reason why the joint should not become normal.

A SUBSCRIBER. Q.—Will an egg shampoo harm the hair?

A.—Will olive oil applied to the face at night grow hair on the face?

A.—Egg shampoo will not harm hair.

Oil applied to the face may cause hair to grow there.

Dr. Copeland will answer for readers of this paper questions on medical, hygienic and sanitation subjects that are of general interest. Today's Fashion

By VERA WINSTON

This Canary Linen Frock Features the Tucked Panel Treatment.

CANARY yellow is one of the smartest colors for the new season. It appeared in heavier fabrics for very early Spring, and now it comes in all the delightful sheer fabrics for warm weather.

The model above is a cool little affair of canary yellow handkerchief linen. It has short sleeves, a square neck and a front panel which features deep tucks.

The hat is of white Bangkok straw with a sheer fringe of yellow hair straw standing up about the ends.

How to Make Your Clothes Accent Your Beauty

By LUCREZIA BORI

The Famous Spanish Prima Donna

Someone has very wisely said that fashion is general and style is individual.

If you are very wise you'll think this over and you'll keep it in the back of your head the next time you're shopping, or ordering a frock.

From your dressmaker or making one for yourself. The secret that defies definition, has most to do with the person herself, and somewhat to do with the raffish in which she clothes herself.

If you know your own type perfectly you'll find it easy and delightful to plan clothes that you are sure will suit you to a T. They become a part of you. They accent your type of curves, because they are essentially what you have chosen for yourself.

If the clothes you wear can answer the foregoing description, they are essentially of the style that makes you an individual to be reckoned with—and not simply a woman who follows the fashion, be it ever so unbecoming to her.

Choose good clothes, but never let them be of the kind that eclipse you yourself. The secret to your mind of the wonderful French creations lies in the fact that you notice a lovely woman when she wears them, rather than noticing the gown and the woman as a secondary consideration.

You think how charming a creature she is, and later you may have time to consider her gown and realize that it is a wonderful thing. Because it is the right type it accents the subtle qualities of her charm which are most alluring.

And the French things are so simple and so plain that you really don't think much about them at first. You don't realize what makes the gown so bewitchingly becoming. Then you realize it's the beauty of the workmanship. They are put together so that practically not a stitch or a seam shows.

You can make this subtle art of gowning yourself your own. Remember that you are of first importance and your clothes of secondary importance. Keep this principle in your mind and you'll find that you've progressed a long way in dis-

Tomorrow's HOROSCOPE

By Genevieve Kemble

TUESDAY, APRIL 22.

A perplexing day is to be read from the dominant and contradictory planetary configurations. There is need for caution and discretion in all lines of activity, and particular care should be taken to avoid hurts or accidents for one's self and family.

There are elements of danger and disorder in the domestic circle and the young especially should be protected from various hazardous situations. Business may be fairly successful but make changes cautiously.

Those whose birthday it is may look for a year of uncertainty in their affairs, though business may be fairly prosperous. The domestic circle should be safeguarded against all manner of ill-hurts, accidents and social mistakes. Change, removals and travel should be postponed. A child born on this day may be fond of change and should be carefully trained early in life.

EXPLANATION OF NEW DATE FOR THE POST H SHOW

Wayne B. Sewell, personal manager of the producing company for "Mr. and Mrs. Polly Tick" has written a letter of explanation to the local people for the failure of the costumes for the show to arrive here for Friday evening. The production will be staged Wednesday evening at the Masonic. Mr. Sewell expressing a willingness to do anything to aid the members of Post H, by whom the play is to be given, generously effected a financial settlement.

Excerpts from his letter follow: "Our embarrassment is all the keener because this thing happened in the home town of our very popular, efficient, competent and attractive director, Miss Margery Raney. It is doubly embarrassing because you have given your friends assurances of a big play tonight, together with the fact that you have most heartily cooperated with us. All this has been embarrassing, not only to me, but to you, Miss Raney and all your friends."

"I am very grateful that you are fair and lenient. In talking with Miss Raney and her father by long distance this morning, I asked that your committee review these facts, and then decide what is best and right first of all for you, Miss Raney and your community, and last for me, letting me assume your position and yours for the present time."

Mr. J. P. Brock, President Post H Travelers Protective Association, Decatur, Ala.

Regret my letter not clear. Writer in accordance my understanding terminated by guarantee you four hundred net altho we have no town on record this day ever making that much net. Want you satisfied. This privilege I have requested in three phone conversations and one letter. Again not only do I request this but also ask that if four hundred net satisfactory make it satisfactory to yourselves by even including damages covering time embarrassment and expenses you may have been occasioned. In fairness to you please publish my letters and telegrams. Call on me if I can serve you further, higher or better or fairer. Best wishes for a pleased committee and audience and assurances of my gratefulness for the privilege of doing all in my power possible for you. I am cordially and sincerely to you all your associates and friends in this play.

S.S.S. stops Rheumatism

And with it pain and its probability of reaching the heart.
"Rheumatism? Me? No, indeed, it's all gone, every bit of it! It's sunshine and joy for me now for the first time in years. I feel a wonderful glory again in the free motion I used to have when my days were younger. I look at my hands and think of the twists and swellings they used to have. I bend way over to the floor. I haven't been able to do that in many years. I can thank S. S. S. for it all! To me it was a rising sun of joy and liberty. Brothers and sisters in misery, do not close your eyes and think that health, free motion and strength are gone from you forever! It is not so. It is here and now for all of you. S. S. S. is waiting to help you. There is a reason why S. S. S. will help you. When you increase the number of your red blood cells, the entire system undergoes a tremendous change. Everything depends on blood strength. Blood which is minus sufficient red cells leads to a long list of troubles. Rheumatism is one of them. S. S. S. is the great blood-cleanser, blood-builder, system strengthener, nerve invigorator. It stops skin eruptions, too, pimples, blackheads, acne, boils, eczema. It builds up run-down, tired men and women, beautifies complexion, makes the flesh firmer. Start S. S. S. today. It is sold at all good drug stores. The larger size is more economical.

Senator Ralston, democrat, Indiana, asked Chairman Norris if he understood that Ford had made such a guarantee.

The chairman said he did not "but when the Ford bid comes up in the senate" he intended to offer an amendment to make clear that Ford was making the guarantee.

Senator Harrison expressed the belief that the Ford bid already makes the guarantee. Chairman Norris said the only way to decide it was to put Ford on the stand personally and ask him the question.

FEELS LIKE SHE HAS BEEN GIVEN BRAND NEW BACK

Cordova Woman Had Suffered Agonies But Is Now Happy Over Her Restoration Through the Use of Stella Vitae.

"Positively, I feel like Stella Vitae has given me a brand-new back," said Irene Vines, living at Cordova, Ala., the other day.

"The miserable time I had with my back is beyond words to express. Why, at times it would almost kill me to stoop or bend over to put on my shoes, and when I would try to straighten up the agony was so intense I would almost scream. My trouble about unfitted me for doing any kind of steady work; even sweeping the floor was beyond my strength at times, and a sudden hitch would seize me and the broom just drop from my hands."

"I took so much medicine that my house looked like a drug store and nothing helped my a bit till I started on Stella Vitae. Two bottles fixed me up fine and I am getting stronger and better all the time."

Note—Stella Vitae may be obtained from any druggist and is sold upon the positive guarantee that the purchase price will be refunded if it fails to bring relief.—Advt.
